YOUR LICENSE ENTITLEMENTS

When you purchase an Asset from a Store, you are purchasing a license to the Asset. We retain all intellectual property in the Asset, but the license gives you the entitlements outlined below, with certain restrictions that depend on the type of license purchased. Unless stated otherwise in the documentation that comes with your purchase, your license is a Standard License, with the restrictions outlined below.

Subject to the restrictions below, once you have paid the purchase price specified in the Store or agreed with Us in writing, your license entitles you:

to incorporate the Asset into Products produced under your direct control, and into promotional materials (graphics, videos or print media) for those Products to publish, distribute, transmit, broadcast, communicate, show and play the Asset as incorporated into those Products and promotional materials to adapt the Asset for the purpose of doing any of the above, and to do any of the above with the Asset as so adapted, and to authorize third parties to do any of the above, but only in relation to Products produced under your direct control, and promotional materials for those Products. Modifying an Asset does not mean you own that Asset, or that you can do anything with that Asset beyond what is specifically allowed in this EULA.

END USER will be prohibited from using the asset license for the following products:

- Creation of Non-Fungible-Tokens (NFT) and/or use in Blockchain based projects or products.
- Creation of content for Metaverse-related and/or game creation software and products.
